Foreword

The KEYS TO ACHIEVEMENT are numerous. As we go through life, we will discover that Education is the first and most important of these keys; for it unlocks the door of the mind. Achievement is obtained by climbing just one step at a time; through the various school activities, the forming of warm friendships, and learning fair play in sports.

In these pages we will try to show the students of P.B.H.S. the ways they have attained achievement.

The Key

To Achievement

Tension,

Frustration . . .

Are part of the Usual day

More and more the world is coming to understand that education shapes the direction and governs the trend of civilization. Both the state and federal government recognize the potency of education when it contributes money for the support of schools. There is a general belief among the leaders of the free world, that if this civilization is to exist, the population must be given understanding and efficiency through education. Probably the greatest chore yet to be done is eliminating the old prejudices, the old rivalries, the old suspicions and the old hatreds which have developed between Nations. Educational progress is no longer something that we just hope for; it must be a reality for our own survival.

Social Science courses bring out the inter-relationships between men and their surroundings. To be "historically minded" is to see things in relation and in perspective, and to judge tolerantly. Geography reveals the part men's own talents, ambitions, and limitations play in using and developing the landscape and its resources. Through sociology we learn to understand one another, for we can appreciate others only when we "stand in their shoes" and face their problems. We must remember how differently men have thought and acted in different times. We must always keep an open mind, ready to receive and weigh new evidence.

All of this is included in the social sciences which scholars today study and teach.

One of the most important facts about our world is that the objects in it can be counted and the masses measured. Without mathematics this would not be possible. Because it is of such fundamental importance in almost all of the sciences, mathematics is necessary for a career in these fields. For that reason P.B.H.S. strides to impress upon its students the value of courses in math.

ORGANIZATIONS

Just as days gather to form weeks and weeks to form months, so do students gather together to form organizations which are necessary to the overall picture of a healthy school. Organizations keep our calendar packed full of activity. These groups function in many and varied ways, but in every case students learn to express themselves and thus gain self confidence while enriching their school experience. Whether the end in view is a project, a dance, or a planned trip, organizations keep the student body on the go.

No matter where your interests lie, there is an organization that is tailored for you. There are special interest groups that appeal to those of us who are interested in teaching or science. For those who are interested in French or Spanish matters there are groups with the same interests. Organizations offer in their different ways something to interest and broaden the horizon of every student in school, so that each individual will know when he has found that KEY TO ACHIEVEMENT.

F.H.A.

The task of preparing for homemaking in the future interests the members of the Future Homemakers of America. Efficiency in preparing food, good health for the family, and better home life are the goals of their learning programs and projects.

"The meeting of the Future Homemakers of America will now come to order."

Daddy Joe takes the stand!

We at P.B.H.S. are very proud of our band and their new uniforms. Due to their playing at pep assemblies and basketball games, spirits are raised and pep is added. Also, to the "band-aids" we pay thanks for all the support at the football games. All is not play, however, for Mr. Smith and the band work very hard throughout the year learning more about music.

FEATURES

Features appear occasionally to be the silly side of school, but, in a sense, we learn while we dash about to occasional parties, games, and dances. All these social functions help us in actual practice to cope with today's complex society. If this part of school life takes precedence over classes, study, and homework, then it serves as a balance wheel and keeps us from being academic drones. We will remember wonderful teachers, but school life is important, too, because it contains many of our happiest memories. The high and exciting moments of our extra-curricular activities are here recorded so you can see how these things helped us to obtain another KEY TO ACHIEVEMENT.

Editor's Message

Each moment of your life is but a key opening the door to greater opportunities in your growing career. This KEY TO ACHIEVEMENT is of one increasing and dynamic purpose, to make your life deep and strong and to add the stamp of character and worth. This key can also open doors to your heart, mind, and spirit and develop qualities of effective living: patience, determination, endurance, self-discipline, work, love, and faith.

Your every act whether large or small will be the KEY TO ACHIEVEMENT that makes live . . . your life . . . a masterpiece.

Dear Janis:

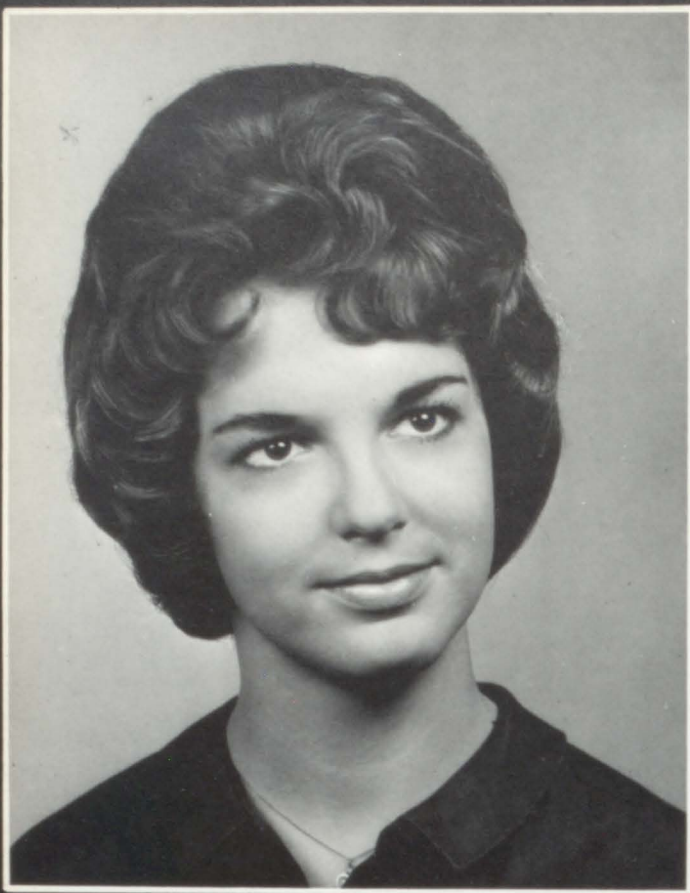

All the pretty girls in Missouri must be in school with you for the task of selecting a Queen and her attendants was not at all an easy one. However, I am happy to advise you that we at the "House Party" show have selected Miss LINDA SHIPMAN as Queen of THE BLUFF along with Misses Karen Kief, Ruth Vanaman, & Jennifer Weeks as princesses. We have also chosen Miss Delilah Mickey and Ruth Ann Singleton as attendants.

My best wishes to you, Janis, and to your school, too, for being blessed with so much beauty. You will all certainly enjoy many happy days ahead.

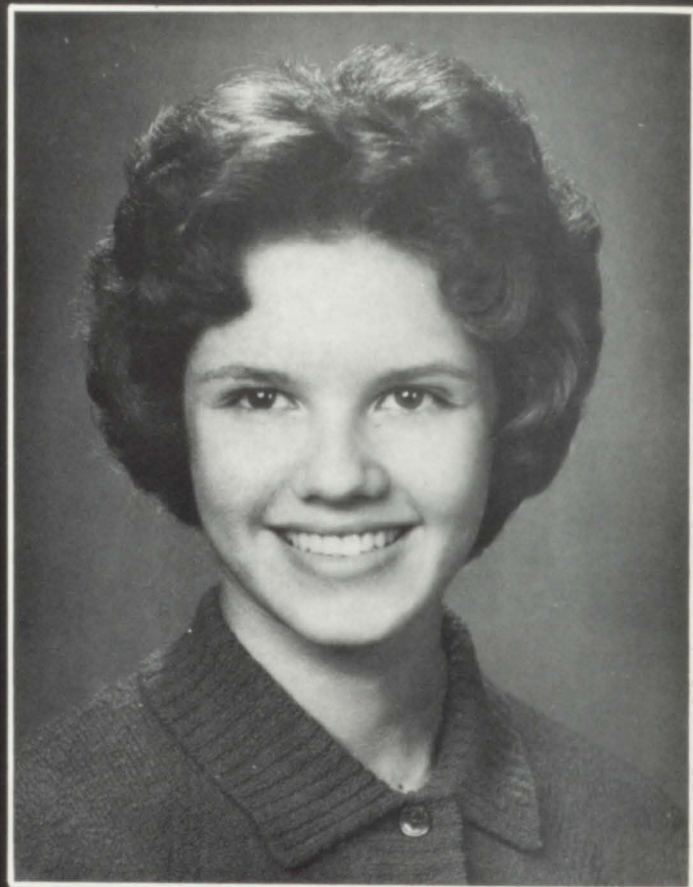

Sincerely,

SPORTS

We are very proud of all our teams. . . football, basketball, and track. It is not the score that counts but how you play the game. In P.B.H.S. games it often seems that the spectators play as hard as the players. Whether we won or lost, in all our team participation we played hard and fair, and these ideals are truly the KEYS TO ACHIEVEMENT.

CLASSES

These are your classmates. They are great people and you know it. They help you with your homework, your love affairs, and all your problems. There is almost nothing that cannot be borrowed from them. . . pen and ink when you forget that this is theme day in English class, lunch money, gym shoes, book reports, their car, and sometimes, their girls. They have come up with you through the Sophomore Valentine Dance, the Junior-Senior Prom, all those comprehensive tests where we filled in the heavy black mark between the little lines, those black report card days with all sorts of grades, tough teachers and those all too few snap courses. They are green with you when you start at P.B.H.S., and they will be older and wiser as they graduate with you in a cloud of tears and Pomp and Circumstance knowing they have obtained the KEY TO ACHIEVEMENT.

Although the three years in senior high school are inseparable, the senior year seems to be the most memorable. As Sophomores we were inexperienced, as Juniors we were "Happy-Go-Lucky" but as Seniors we took on the responsibility of leadership and tried to set a good example to our undergraduates.

Setting this example was easy after being guided by such good class presidents. As Sophomores Larry Tate helped us get used to our new home. Judy Montgomery helped us to make our mark in Senior High by producing the "Best Prom Ever" and by carrying out in the Junior tradition with Slave Day, Sadie Hawkins, and who can forget those boxes of wrapping paper? Looking toward our Senior year it seemed that there was nothing left to work for. Terry Grobe proved us wrong when he brought out the magazines, the diploma lists, and our Senior rings.

As we separate and go our own ways we each will try to be good examples of a young adult and an Alumni of P.B.H.S.

Our junior year was filled with many activities, in which our officers were very capable of leading us. The high school years are all very important, but the junior year is the most significant. It is the half-way mark in our high school education. Next year we will be the leaders of P.B.H.S.
